

eKhenana residents are tilling for freedom

Nomfundo Xolo

13 Aug 2020

pictures

<https://www.newframe.com/ekhenana-residents-are-tilling-for-freedom/>

9 June 2020: Yongama Nonkula, a resident of eKhenana in Cato Manor, Durban, shows some of the beans harvested from the community garden where residents grow their own food.

9 June 2020: Zamekile Ngwane works in the food garden alongside other eKhenana residents. They have planted different kinds of seeds and the vegetables they harvest are sometimes their only source of food for the day.

9 June 2020: Being unemployed, 28-year-old Yongama Nonkula has been putting all his effort into the garden, which produces vegetables such as amadumbe, sweet potato, spinach, butternut and cabbage.

9 June 2020: Some beans that have been harvested in the food garden at eKhenana settlement in Cato Manor, Durban.

9 June 2020: The T-shirt of a man walking through the settlement of eKhenana reflects the residents' struggle for a secure home from which they cannot be evicted.